

AN HD DOCUMENTARY ABOUT
THE PASSION AND PERSEVERANCE
OF THE GREEN AND WHITE.

 From 'Piffles' Taylor to George Reed, from the tragedy of '56 to the triumphs of '66,'89, and '07 – for a century, the Riders have been a part of something far bigger than the game they play. They are woven into the history, culture, pace, pulse and grit of an entire province, if not a nation. The team is a part of our hopes, our dreams, our myth and our heritage.

Now, in its centennial year, the Rider nation looks back on its roots to celebrate the trials, triumphs and unforgettable moments that fill its history. We will never forget Mr. Fyfe's purchase of discount green and white jerseys from a surplus clothing store in 1948, Ron Lancaster's Little Miracle game, or Dave Ridgway's absolutely perfect kick in 1989. From 1910 to 2010, the crowning moments in Riders history and the temperament of the greatest fans in the country are examined in this one hour HD documentary on the growth and century-old triumph of the Rider Nation.
